STYLISH COURTYARD

Location: Glebe, Sydney

The apartment has two separate courtyard spaces, both with a very different feel and appeal.

The brief called for a smart, sophisticated design taking into account that both courtyard spaces are viewed from every room within the apartment.

The first courtyard is a ground floor balcony space overlooking Sydney harbour. The styling in this space was restrained, leaving the magnificent view as the focal point. A row of copper coloured urns simply planted with variegated Star Jasmine adds interest to the rendered balcony wall, without distracting from the view. The copper colour was chosen to pick up on the colours used on the internal decorative items. At night, the uplit pots give a cosy intimate feel to the space which is perfect for entertaining whilst enjoying the backdrop of the city lights.

The second, rear courtyard space is stylish and contemporary designed to be used as a private, contemplative retreat. Equally as important, it was designed to be viewed from inside the apartment.
